ProPublica Updates Data and Online Tool Comparing Nursing Home Deficiencies and Penalties by State

ProPublica has published new data on deficiencies cited by regulators and the penalties imposed in the past three years on nursing homes. The online tool, Nursing Home Inspect, compares nursing homes by state and includes over 60,000 nursing home inspection reports. The data includes information about federal sanctions against nursing homes, including fines and payment suspensions.

Attorneys General Condemn Federal Action to Rollback Protections for Nursing Home Residents

Last week, 17 Attorneys General submitted a letter to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services condemning federal actions that would delay the enforcement of protections for Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries who receive care in skilled nursing facilities. Leading the coalition was California Attorney General Xavier Becerra who held a press conference highlighting their concerns. The federal actions, including a memorandum to decrease the amounts of Civil Money Penalties imposed against a facility, and an 18-month moratorium on enforcement of certain requirements, in effect, weaken the 2016 CMS regulatory reforms that would improve the safety of nursing home residents by providing protections against abuse, neglect, and exploitation. The letter was sent in anticipation of the June rule-making period that will revisit requirements deemed to be burdensome for facilities. For more information, read the press release from the Office of Eilon Caspi published a new journal titled, The circumstances surrounding the death of 105 elders as a result of resident-to-resident incidents in dementia in long-term care homes. Using publicly available information, patterns were identified pertaining to the circumstances surrounding the death of 105 elders as a result of resident-to-resident incidents. This is the first study in U.S. and Canada on these fatal incidents. The preliminary findings from this pilot exploratory study could inform long-term care homes and other stakeholders’ efforts to prevent injurious and tragic incidents in similar circumstances. New Brief on Understanding and Working with Adult Protective Services

This brief is part one of a three part resource developed by the National Adult Protective Services Association (NAPSA) in collaboration with the National Center on Elder Abuse. The goal of this resource is to provide information for understanding and collaborating with Adult Protective Services (APS) in order to benefit older adults and adults with disabilities who are subjected to abuse, neglect, or exploitation (ANE), including sexual violence. U.S. House of Representatives Seniors Task Force Hold Nursing Home Briefing on Capitol Hill

On Monday, June 4, the Seniors Task Force, co-chaired by Representatives Jan Schakowsky (D-IL-9) and Doris Matsui (D-CA-6), hosted a briefing, “Protect Seniors Through Improving—Not Eroding—Nursing Home Quality Standards.” Panelists included: (1) Janet Wells, Consultant, California Advocates for Nursing Home Reform, (2) Richard Mollot, Executive Director, Long Term Care Community Coalition, (3) Toby Edelman, Senior Policy Attorney, Center for Medicare Advocacy, (4) Charlene Harrington, Ph.D., Professor, University of California- San Francisco, and (5) Robyn Grant, Director of Public Policy and Advocacy, National Consumer Voice for Quality Long-Term Care.

Panelists highlighted both positive changes in the revised federal nursing home regulations ensuring quality care for nursing home residents, as well as problems that continue to occur in nursing facilities. Many of the speakers discussed the lack of information available to consumers regarding the number and quality of staff available. Richard Mollot noted that while a federal study indicated that the average resident needs 4.1 hours of direct care to meet their basic clinical needs, 82% of nursing homes report total direct care staffing at 4.0 hours per resident per day or less and 30% of nursing homes report total direct care staffing of 3.0 hours per day per resident or less. Our very own Robyn Grant outlined policy solutions and encouraged advocates to ask Congress to pass federal minimum staffing standards for Medicare and Medicaid-funded nursing facilities. In addition to establishing new standards, panelists also highlighted the importance of adequate enforcement of current standards and the need for greater accountability from nursing homes.

Spotlight on Resources
